12 July 2000

Dear Permanent Secretary,
Oxford University Foreign Service Programme

I am writing to give you a short report on the participation of Anthony Mwaniki Muchiri in the 1999/2000 course, which ended recently, and of his success in the end-of-year examinations.

The Foreign Service Programme provides a course of post-graduate study lasting over a full academic year which is designed to give its students deeper insights into international affairs in theory and practice, and into current specific political and economic problems. It includes separate courses in Diplomatic Studies and Practice, International Politics, International Trade & Finance and International Law. FSP members have access to the full range of the university's intellectual resources, and the opportunity to improve and update their knowledge and intellectual skills, with a view to acquiring fresh impetus in their diplomatic careers. They also have the opportunity to relate to and learn from a group of talented contemporaries, members of other diplomatic services.

Teaching is provided in lectures from both university teachers and distinguished outside speakers, through interactive seminars, and by means of tutorial discussion in small groups on the basis of prepared work. These facilitate the exchange of ideas over a wide range of issues. Training is also provided in media techniques and in multilateral negotiation. There are opportunities to study French, Spanish and other languages. A key component of the course is a series of study visits to business and media institutions and international organisations in London and other European cities, and a detailed study of the Northern Ireland Peace Process, which includes a three-day visit to Belfast. The year's course is thus a test of intellectual and physical energy and discipline, as well as of character.

Mr. Muchiri played an active part throughout the course. In the final examinations he achieved a Merit in Diplomatic Practice, a Pass in International Politics, a Pass in International Trade & Finance and a Merit in International Law.

.. Muchiri worked steadily and made an increasing impact in the group as the year wore on. His written work was always accurate, competent and interesting, and he contributed helpfully to discussion, drawing on his own relevant experience. He also made an impact in University activities, by winning an inter-collegiate middle-distance running competition. This did not hamper his above-average performance in the final examinations. With his outgoing personality and sense of humour he won many friends for Kenya of which he was a most effective representative.

hope you will show Mr. Muchiri this report.

*Yours sincerely,
Chris W. Long*

4. THAT I swear this affidavit to oppose H. E. the President's nomination of Mr Antony Mwaniki Muchiri, who is from the Kikuyu Community, for Parliament's approval for appointment as the Chairperson of the Public Service Commission.
5. THAT the appointment of Mr Antony Mwaniki Muchiri will exacerbate the violation of Article 250(4) of the Constitution, which provides that "Appointments to commissions and independent offices shall take into account the national values referred to in Article 10, and the principle that the composition of the commissions and offices, taken as a whole, shall reflect the regional and ethnic diversity of the people of Kenya." [My emphasis.]
6. THAT I am aware that with a combined force of at least 24 members on the constitutional commissions and independent offices, members of the Kikuyu community are overrepresented and the appointment of Mr Antony Mwaniki Muchiri from the same community will make matters worse.

7. THAT the appointment of Mr Antony Mwaniki Muchiri will bring the number of members of the Kikuyu community to two on the Public Service Commission. The other member of the community being, Andrew N. Muriuki.
8. THAT in the circumstances, the National Assembly should reject his nomination and ask the President to nominate eligible an candidate from those Kenyan communities which have few or no representation on the commissions and independent offices.
9. THAT in view of the above, and pursuant to Parliament's duty to promote and safeguard constitutionalism and the rule of law, I verily believe that it is now incumbent upon this Honourable Committee of the House to reject the nomination of Mr Antony Mwaniki Muchiri, and to leave no doubts in the minds of the public that the law will henceforth be applied with certainty.
10. THAT what is deponed to herein is true to the best of my knowledge save what has been deponed to on information and belief the sources and grounds whereof have been respectively specified.
